Dear University graduates and undergraduates,

Re: Applications for Chatteris International Graduate Programme in Hong Kong

The Chatteris Educational Foundation is a non-profit charitable organisation aiming to help Hong Kong students improve their English, develop young leaders with global vision and promote cultural exchange.

There are 63 recent university graduates working within our International Graduate Programme this year. To see which universities they are from please click here.

We are pleased to announce that application for the Chatteris International Graduate Programme 2011-2012 is now officially open! The programme offers graduates with a bachelor degree or higher qualification the opportunity to develop professionally and personally in Hong Kong.

This takes place whilst working in a Hong Kong school on a 9-month paid contract as a Chatteris Native-speaking English Tutor (CNET). In addition to skills graduates develop whilst working within a Chinese school culture, Chatteris offers opportunities for graduates to widen their perspective with focuses such as cultural and social activities, project management, career development, community work and professional skill development.

Through different aspects of the Chatteris International Graduate Programme, you can:

- Contribute directly to the life and learning experience of Hong Kong students, schools and community
- Develop important attributes and gain transferable skills invaluable for a successful future career in any fields, especially flexibility, adaptability, diversity, self-initiative, preparedness, coordination and collaboration
- Undertake leadership and team player roles
- Develop project management skills
- Enhance global awareness through cultural exchange, learning to think globally and act locally

Are you...

- Interested in working with Chinese students in a school in Hong Kong for 9 months?
- Outgoing, creative and fun?
- Serious about your professional, personal and cultural development?
