Brandon University has campuses on both Treaty 1 and Treat 2 territories. Our main campus is located in Brandon, Manitoba, on Treat 2 territory. This is traditional shared land between the Dakota and Ojibway.

The Turtle Mountains and Brandon Area was also home to the Métis peoples. Settlements along the Assiniboine River and into northeastern areas of Saskatchewan created a chain of Métis Communities. We at Brandon University acknowledge and respect the history, land and the people of this area.

Brandon University is considered a small University with just over 3200 students attending each year. 70% of our classes have 20 students or less. With the cozy feel of a small town, Brandon is actually the second largest city in Manitoba with 58,000 residing in the metro area.

Brandon plays host to a variety of events year round such as the Dakota Nation Winterfest, Brandon Wheat Kings hockey, Brandon Jazz Festival, and the Royal Manitoba Winter Fair just to name a few. Enjoy the outdoors at the Riverbank Discovery Centre or take the short drive to Riding Mountain National Park.

Choose Your Focus: Discover your passion in one of our undergraduate or graduate degree programs. Explore your options in Arts, Science, Education, Health Studies & Music.

Throughout the year, guest performers, faculty and students from our renowned School of Music offer a variety of performances. Love art? The Glen. P. Sutherland Gallery of Art is located on the southwest corner of campus featuring the works of local and visiting artists. Enjoy critically acclaimed movies at the JRC Evans Theatre located in the heart of campus. Cheer on the Bobcat Athletics club; games are free for students!

Dig Deep: Every year, we showcase the cutting-edge research of senior students in our Arts and Science program. What kind of research drives you? Previous topics have ranged from breast cancer to creative writing.

Bringing People Together

BRANDON UNIVERSITY INDIGENOUS STUDENT COLLECTIVE (BUISC)

The goal of BUISC is to provide services and support to Indigenous and non-Indigenous students on campus. One of the most important things we focus on is being together. Traditionally Indigenous people lived in very close knit communities. Every person is valued, has a role, is looked after and contributes. From Potlucks to getting together to learn how to make bannock, BUISC encourages belonging.

BUISC also organizes fundraisers and graduation events, and participates in the Canadian Federation of Students' National Aboriginal Caucus "Where's the Justice?" and Stolen Sisters campaigns for Aboriginal peoples' rights. For more information about us, stop by the Indigenous Peoples' Centre.

Finding Your Place

INDIGENOUS PEOPLES' CENTRE

We are located in the heart of the university, nested right between the Library and Student Services area. The IPC is here to serve the heart and mind by providing culturally sensitive services to First Nation, Métis and Inuit students, and by promoting cross—cultural understanding on campus. The IPC is a resource area on campus and in the community that makes referrals and provides information on resources, student leadership, and peer support.

Beyond academic support, the IPC becomes a home away from home for students. Here you will find a lounging area of couches to relax on between classes and engage in supportive conversation with fellow students. Soup is served weekly for everyone to join in a meal together. Most importantly, we offer you a family and friendships that will last you a lifetime. We learn through gathering that even though we may lead different lives, we are the same.

Supports that can be accessed through the IPC include:

- ▶ Orientation Activities
- ▶ Transition Supports
- ▶ Knowledge Keepers
- ▶ Smudge Friendly Space
- ▶ Study space, computers, and printer
- ▶ Soup brought in from dining hall

MÉTIS STUDENT CENTRE

A place where Brandon University Métis students can gather to study, tell stories and make friends in a comfortable environment surrounded by their culture, and examples of those who have succeeded before them. Located in Clark Hall, here you will find couches, tables and computers to be used whenever you like and you will always be visited by the Native Studies Department that is located on the same floor.

HE OYATE TAWAPI CEREMONY ROOM

The He Oyate Tawapi Ceremony Room is located in the Health Studies building. This shared space serves multiple purposes, including teaching, ceremonial and non-ceremonial purposes. The George and Mary Goodon Art Gallery is located on the second floor of this space.

THE AL AND BEE WAGNER INDIGENOUS STUDENT TRANSITION PROGRAM

“The first year of university can be overwhelming, but this program allowed for adapting to the university life that much easier. Having this program to use and guide us on navigating university was so helpful! Would highly recommend!”

Program Overview

Brandon University and the Indigenous Peoples' Centre is proud to offer the Al and Bee Wagner Indigenous Student Transition Program. The program will focus on offering transitioning support to Indigenous students starting their education at Brandon University under four pillars: academic, social, personal and cultural.

The program is open to Indigenous students entering their first year at Brandon University. Our transition program will unlock the potential of Indigenous students by developing their academic skills and by fostering social, community and cultural supports that will increase success rates at the university level.

“The program can be for any type of student, whether if you are C student or an A student. Just having support is so amazing and it is something I would recommend for anybody.”

Students will have support from committed staff and mentors, including traditional Knowledge Keepers and Elders, as well as strong peer-group support. There will be a wide range of culturally appropriate supports and resources; students can take part in ceremonies.

We have a small cohort of students so that they can benefit from personalized attention that is Brandon University's hallmark. The cohort will meet throughout the school year for academic support through study groups, tutors, and the Academic Skills Centre.

The cohort will have access to personal supports from Student Services Counsellors and Knowledge Keepers. Students will have a weekly one-on-one check-in with the Transition Program Coordinator.

“The check ins were very helpful. It was nice to speak with the coordinator during this new experience. She gave me a sense of clarity and understanding.”

Students who remain in the program can become peer mentors and tutors to other Indigenous students and graduates can become ambassadors of the program and BU in the future.

“It was really helpful for me and I found out about a lot of resources that I wouldn’t have known about otherwise.”

Orientation

Students accepted into the Al and Bee Wagner Indigenous Student Transition Program will take part in an extended weeklong orientation at the end of August. During orientation, students will learn how to navigate the campus and city. We will focus on the essentials, some examples include; housing, medical, shopping, child care needs and using the online platforms. We will also look at: learning to learn, learning how to study, how to do research and how to write a paper. Our orientation will help students build connections by experiencing a sense of belonging and inclusion. We will end the orientation with a social activity.

“I really enjoyed the orientation because it gave me the chance to meet new people and get an idea on what to expect. I was really nervous for my first year of university but by the end of orientation week, my worries were gone.”
