

Brandon University
Faculty of Education
Master of Education Program

Frequently Asked Questions:

1. Why should teachers enter a Master of Education program?

A Master of Education degree program strengthens the process of continuous professional learning, and remains the best way for teachers (in MB) to receive classification increments. Teachers enrolled in a Master of Education program learn critical pedagogical and administrative skills, in addition to academic skills such as scholarly writing and research design.

2. What program options are available at Brandon University?

Students have the following program options:

i) complete the first Master of Education degree (36 credit hours).

For teachers in Manitoba: the Professional Certification Unit recognizes this for one classification increment.

ii) complete a second Master of Education degree at Brandon University, with additional 24 credit hours (for a total of 60 credit hours). Manitoba Teacher Certification recognizes the second M.Ed for one (1) additional increment. (one's 1st Master of Education degree must be from Brandon University in order to be eligible for our 2nd Master of Education program)

3. How much time do students have to complete a graduate program?

Students must complete all Master of Education program requirements within six (6) years of the commencement date of their 1st graduate course registration. (Fall term start only)

4. What areas of specialization are available in the Faculty of Education at Brandon University for the Master of Education program?

Students may choose from the following specialization areas: Inclusive Education, Curriculum and Pedagogy, Educational Administration, or Guidance & Counselling.

<https://www.brandonu.ca/master-education/graduate-level-programs/>

5. What does a typical course schedule look like in the M.Ed. program?

While the delivery method may vary from one specialization to another, typically the courses take place as follows (all posted time slots on schedules are in "Central Time"):

- Regular Session (Fall & Winter): evenings during the week (or weekends, for Guidance & Counselling)
- Spring Session (Both Term): evenings during the week (or weekends, for Guidance & Counselling)
- Summer Session (Term 1 & Term 2): daytime: Monday-Friday

6. Can students take courses through distance delivery?

The Master of Education program continues to increase its focus on alternative course delivery strategies, especially for off-campus students. For distance delivery, courses are offered using a combination of on-line (NET/NT1/NT2/NT3/NT4 = online/distance delivery). In addition, video-conferencing (Zoom or MS Teams) is widely used within our program. While many courses are available on-line or by distance, some still require face-to-face instruction (A10 or A00), such as those in the Guidance & Counselling Master of Education program. In these cases, the required courses are generally scheduled during weekends, allowing off-campus students to more conveniently attend classes. Graduate Courses offered during the Summer Session may also include daytime on-campus classes.

7. Are students required to write a thesis in the M.Ed?

In the first Master of Education program, students are admitted initially into the course route, however once 15 credit hours (including the 2 core courses: 07:752, and 07:714) have been successfully completed, the student, in consultation with the department chair, may then begin the process to apply for consideration, into the Thesis route for the Master of Education program (as per the approved Master of Education Thesis Protocol available on our website)
