Master of Education Application Information

During the online Master of Education application submission, at the top of the Area of Specialization section, the following message will appear with the following prompt: “Important Please Read before selecting”

The important information on the area of specialization selection is also outlined below for your reference in advance:

“While only one (1) Area of Specialization selection is required for the Master of Education application, you may choose to select up to three (3) Areas of Specialization on your application.

This process allows applicants who were not granted admission into their first choice, an opportunity to have their application considered for a second or third Area of Specialization.

The first Area of Specialization option that you check will be your primary selection; you are not required to enter a comment for your first selection.

The order in which you check the Area of Specialization checkbox options determines your ranking of the Area of Specialization you choose.

Please note that if you are selecting more than one (1) Area of Specialization, you will be prompted to provide a comment for each additional specialization selection. Your comment should provide rationale explaining how it supports your academic goals.”
